ELECTRIC SYSTEM RELIABILITY ANNUAL REPORT

2015

Prepared for California Public Utilities Commission

May 31, 2016 Draft Final as per Ordering Paragraph #2 in D16.01.008

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Electric System Reliability Annual Report for 2015 has been prepared in response to CPUC Decision 16-01-008, which was approved January 20, 2016. Decision 16-01-008 established reliability recording, calculation, and reporting requirements for SDGE.

The data in this report is presented in tabular form. All statistics and calculations include forced transmission, substation, and distribution outages, and exclude planned outages and ISO mandated load curtailment outages unless specified. Forced outages are those that are not prearranged. For the purposes of this report, sustained outages are outages that lasted more than five minutes in duration, while momentary outages are outages that lasted five minutes or less in duration.

The reliability indicators that are tracked are as follows:

1. SAIDI (System Average Interruption Duration Index) - minutes of sustained outages per customer per year.
2. SAIFI (System Average Interruption Frequency Index) - number of sustained outages per customer per year.
3. MAIFI (Momentary Average Interruption Frequency Index) - number of momentary outages per customer per year.
4. CAIDI (Customer Average Interruption Duration Index) – is the average time required to restore service to a utility customer.

Prior to 2013, the measurement of each reliability performance indicator excluded CPUC Major Event and events that are the direct result of failures in the ISO-controlled bulk power market, or non-SDGE owned transmission and distribution facilities. A CPUC Major Event is defined in CPUC Decision 96-09-045 as an event that meets at least one of the following criteria:

- (a) The event is caused by earthquake, fire, or storms of sufficient intensity to give rise to a state of emergency being declared by the government, or
- (b) Any other disaster not in (a) that affects more than 15% of the system facilities or 10% of the utility's customers, whichever is less for each event.

Restricted access by a governmental agency that precluded or otherwise delayed outage restoration times were considered CPUC Major Events and excluded from reliability results.

Beginning in 2013¹, the measurement of each reliability performance indicator excludes IEEE Major Event Days (MED) instead of CPUC Major Events. An IEEE Major Event Day is defined in IEEE-1366, Section 4.5 as a day in which the daily system SAIDI exceeds a threshold value. These threshold major event days are referred to as "TMED". Thus, any day in which the total system SAIDI exceeds TMED is excluded from SDGE's reliability results. The applicable TMED value is calculated at the end of each year using SDGE's daily SAIDI values for the prior five years. SDGE's TMED value for 2015 was 4.36 minutes of daily system SAIDI. Other reliability indices in this report are not calculated using methodologies or formulas exactly as described in the IEEE guide for electric power Distribution Reliability indices (IEEE-1366).

For purposes in understanding this report, the division between Distribution equipment and Transmission equipment is at the substation bank high-side bus disconnect switch. Transmission equipment is defined as all assets rated 69kV and above. The substation bank high-side bus disconnect switch and all equipment on the load-side of the bank high-side bus disconnect switch are defined as Distribution equipment.

Section 3 - System and District indices based on IEEE 1366 for the past 10 years including planned outages and including and excluding TMED

The data used to develop the planned outage indices in this Report is from an outage management system database that SDGE implemented in 2012 to begin tracking planned outage data. As such, only three years of historical planned outage data is available. The Report for each of the following years will contain an additional years' worth of historic data and the Report for calendar year 2022 it will contain 10 years of historical planned outage data. Of note is that this historic planned outage data was recorded for purposes other than for use in this Report, and as a result, was recorded without going through a formal quality control process to assure accuracy with the definition of these indices. SDGE will implement a quality control program in 2016 to ensure recorded planned outage data for calendar years 2016 onwards conforms to the definition of the indices in this Report.

SECTION 5 - Top 1% of Worst Performing Circuits (WPC) excluding TMED

- a. For each of these circuits each utility shall include the following information in its annual report: 1) Circuit Name; 2) District/Division; 3) Customer Count; 4) Substation name; 5) Circuit-miles; 6) Percentage underground, or “% UG”; 7) Percentage overhead or “% OH”; 8) Number of mainline/feeder/backbone outages resulting in the operation of either a circuit breaker (“CB”) or automatic re-closer (“AR”); and, 9) its preferred reliability metric.

As required per D16.01-008, SDGE is providing a table of WPCs based upon the Circuit SAIDI indice (Table 5.1) and based upon the Circuit SAIFI indice (Table 5.2) based on a two-year historical period².

With regards to column (9) in the tables complying to this Section: SDGE’s preferred reliability matrix for purposes of identifying repeat WPCs, SDGE’s preferred matrix is the Circuit SAIDI³. Table 5.b.1 repeats Table 5.1, now with an asterisk identifying any repeat performing circuits.

Because the requirement of SDGE to identify repeat worst performing circuits as identified within this Report is a new requirement per D.16.-01-008, an equivalent previous year report to compare the WPCs identified in Table 5.b.1 does not exist. To comply with this requirement, SDGE compared the results in Table 5.b.1 to a worst circuit list in 2015 (Table 5.b.2) as identified per SDGE's electric reliability performance indicator/performance based ratemaking (PBR) mechanism^{4,5}. Of note is that the criteria to determine the worst performing circuit list in Table 5.b.1 differs from the criteria in Table 5.b.2. The primary difference is that the list contained in Table 5.b.1 is based upon two years of historic data while the list in Table 5.b.2 is based upon five years of historic data.

⁵ These results are provided to the CPUC in an advice letter filing on an annual basis during the GRC rate case cycle.

Repeat WPC: Circuit 79

- i. An explanation of why it was ranked as a "deficient" circuit, i.e., the value of the metric used to indicate its performance;

C79 was listed as a worst circuit due to circuit SAIDI performance.

- ii. A historical record of the metric;

C79: Five Year Circuit SAIDI Data

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013
Circuit SAIDI	425	402	588	924	330

C79: Two Year Circuit SAIDI Data

Year	2014	2015
Circuit SAIDI	1425	473

- iii. An explanation of why it was on the deficiency list again;

Circuit 79 is on the Electric Reliability Reporting list primarily due to major outages during red flag warning events in 2014. This rural circuit experienced multiple large interruption duration outages that contributed to its circuit SAIDI.

- iv. An explanation of what is being done to improve the circuit's future performance and the anticipated timeline for completing those activities (or an explanation why remediation is not being planned); and SDGE has installed additional SCADA sectionalizing devices and is hardening the circuit under our fire risk mitigation efforts. Additional work is scheduled for 2017.

- v. A quantitative description of the utility's expectation for that circuit's future performance.

SDGE does not have a formal process to quantitatively predict the future performance of a past worst performing circuit performance and will pursue a new process prior to the next annual filing of this report. SDGE current analysis process will need to be modified for worst circuit analysis.

Repeat WPC: Circuit 440

- i. An explanation of why it was ranked as a "deficient" circuit, i.e., the value of the metric used to indicate its performance;

C440 was listed as a worst circuit due to circuit SAIDI performance.

- ii. A historical record of the metric;

C440: Five Year Circuit SAIDI Data

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013
Circuit SAIDI	522	365	1033	347	1431

C440: Two Year Circuit SAIDI Data

Year	2014	2015
Circuit SAIDI	1521	318

- iii. An explanation of why it was on the deficiency list again;

Circuit 440 is on the Electric Reliability Reporting list primarily due to major outages causes during red flag warning events in 2014. This rural circuit experienced multiple large interruption duration outages that contributed to its circuit SAIDI.

- iv. An explanation of what is being done to improve the circuit's future performance and the anticipated timeline for completing those activities (or an explanation why remediation is not being planned); and

Circuit 440 in located in the Cleveland National Forrest (CNF) in San Diego County. SDGE recently received CPUC approval to proceed with CNF Master Special Use Project. As part of this project circuit 440 will undergo hardening in the next several years.

- v. A quantitative description of the utility's expectation for that circuit's future performance.

SDGE does not have a formal process to quantitatively predict the future performance of a past worst circuit performance and will pursue a new process prior to the next annual filing of this report. SDGE's current analysis process will need to be modified for worst circuit analysis.

c. Language to explain how the IOUs' include a cost effectiveness review as part of their respective internal review processes for circuit remediation projects.

i. Definitions of terms, acronyms, limitations, and assumptions;

Definitions:

RAT - Reliability Assessment Team

RIRAT - Reliability Improvements for Rural Areas Team

WPC- Worst Performing Circuits

CB- Circuit Breaker

AR- Automatic re-closer

Assumptions

- Our analysis excludes planned outages, Tmed outages, and circuits with less than 100 customers for WPC calculation

- ii. A clear explanation of the utility's process to determine the worst performing circuits:

Methodology used in the Annual Reliability Report (2 year)

Unplanned outage data for the previous two years is used to determine the SAIDI for each of SDGE's distribution circuits, the results are sorted highest to lowest by SAIDI value, and the top 1% (of SDGE's current ~1,000 - 1099 circuits) are identified as the WPCs. Planned outages and Tmed events are excluded as a means to make the results more meaningful, and circuits with less than 100 customers are also excluded. The list is comprised of the top 1% of circuits, as ranked in descending order by their cumulative 2-year Circuit SAIDI, and equates to 10 circuits.

Methodology used in the PBR (5 year)

Because the PBR results are due January 1 of each year, the five previous years of data, before that prior year, are used to determine the SAIDI WPC. Circuits with less than 100 customers are excluded, as are fire events, and events occurring due to proactive safety shutoffs. The list is comprised of the top 1% of circuits, as ranked in descending order by their cumulative five-year Circuit SAIDI, and equates to 10 circuits.

- iii. A clear explanation of the utility's process to determine cost-effective remediation projects. This shall include why the utility may decide to implement a project to address one worst performing circuit issue while deciding to not implement a project to address a different worst performing circuit.

The Reliability Assessment Team (RAT) was created in 1997 and was chartered with improving system reliability. This team is comprised of technical leaders from Distribution Operations, Engineering Standards, Regional Operations, Substation Construction and Maintenance, Substation Engineering, System Protection, and Transmission and Distribution Asset Management. The Reliability Assessment Team meets regularly to evaluate and authorize reliability improvement projects for areas with low circuit reliability and where customer satisfaction issues arise. The team provides strategy and guidance for continuous improvements to system reliability, integrated planning support, and budget management.

District engineers present proposals for reliability improvement projects along with a circuit analysis, cost-benefit analysis, and details on customer impact. SDGE does not have a formal process to predict worst circuit performance and will pursue to implement a new process prior to the next annual filing of this report. Our current analysis process will need to be modified for worst circuit analysis. Current practice is for these projects to be reviewed by an engineering committee for approval.

In 2015, the Reliability Assessment Team approved a number of circuit improvement projects in addition to monitoring budgets, reviewing new equipment and assisting various work groups with operational issues. Ongoing RAT initiatives include:

- Improvements to worst performing circuits
- Reduction in the number of customers between sectionalizing devices
- SCADA Initiative for 12 kV circuits
